Web 2.0 Features on Scitation

This paper describes the various Web 2.0 resources that can be utilized on Scitation's platform for Powder Diffraction. These resources allow you to easily share and network with colleagues and peers. In addition, they offer an easy way to organize and access your references from anywhere that you have access to the Internet. The more familiar you are with these resources, the better equipped you are to network, offer guidance to young professionals, and access information that is increasingly found online.
